 A series of four-line musical staves, each featuring square neumes. The neumes are primarily black squares, with some white squares appearing as rests or specific note heads. The staves are separated by vertical bar lines and horizontal double bar lines. Below each staff is a line of Latin text from a Gregorian chant.

A musical staff consisting of four horizontal lines. It features square neumes, some with vertical stems, arranged in groups of two or three. There are two vertical bar lines, one near the top and one near the bottom, dividing the staff into measures. The first measure begins with a large capital letter 'E' followed by a breve rest. The text continues with 'x-sultá-te, justi in Dómino: * rectos de-cet' and so on.
